We're Hiring

Are you a graduate student looking for a job opportunity in research?

About us:

Dr. Rebecca Lee’s Activity, Community Collaboration, and Equity: Sustainable Opportunities (ACCESO) research lab promotes physical activity and healthy eating, leveraging community partnerships to create health equity.

We are looking for bilingual (SP/EN) graduate students to fill 20 hrs./week positions on an NIH funded project. The BE SAGE study helps get young children (age 3-5) back to in person school safely using a combination of open air garden-based physical activity and nutrition activities and saliva COVID-19 screening tests in preschools serving Hispanic children and families.

If interested please send your Resume and Cover letter to sage@asu.edu or hector.valdez@asu.edu
